VILLA MARIA PARTICIPATES IN MODEL UN IN PHILADELPHIA

Malvern, PA Villa Maria Academy was represented by 11 students at the Ivy League Model UN Conference in Philadelphia this year. The girls were given Australia as their country. They formed different committees, such as Legal, Social, Cultural, Humanitarian, and World Health. Over three days, the committees met with other nations to simulate the real UN, discussing possible solutions from their country's viewpoint. The goal is to pass a resolution, which would lay out a plan for solving the particular problem. Villa joined over 2000 students from 67 schools from as far away as India and China.
